The Monex Pay platform

Our innovative online platform is designed to enable fast same-day, spot, and forward FX transactions to over 100 countries worldwide using live exchange rates. By streamlining international FX payments, corporate clients can lower business costs and operational risk.

Streamline processes

Monex Pay facilitates trading with live rates either with automated, individual or batch payments worldwide. The batch payments feature creates efficiency when managing multiple payments for businesses, including paying overseas and managing global payroll.

Total visibility, total control

Trade on desktop, tablet and mobile devices with 24/7 access to Monex Pay. Monitor the status of live trades in addition to viewing historic trades, payments and generate activity reports to ensure you stay in control of movements on your account.

Security and account management

With enhanced platform security and two factor authentication, you can manage beneficiary details, user access and permissions. FX payments are made with speed and accuracy using local and cross-border settlement networks.

Multi-user authorisation

Monex Pay allows multi-level trade draft and payment approval permissions. New users can be created quickly and assigned to multiple companies on the account. Account administration includes managing trade and payment notifications to individuals and group email addresses.

Analysis of the FX markets

Our industry-leading FX market analysts provide daily FX updates, regular macroeconomic reports and in-depth actionable insights for G10 and Emerging Markets directly from your Monex Pay dashboard.

What is a Multi-Currency Account?

Great for managing multiple currencies with ease, all within your one Monex Europa account

Manage multiple currencies

With this feature, you can receive multiple currency flows into a single IBAN held in the name of your company. This means that you can manage funds in different currencies within designated wallets without needing separate accounts for each currency, as you would with a traditional bank.

Expedite the allocation of funds

One of the main advantages of using a Multi-Currency Account is the elimination of issues that can arise with standard-currency bank accounts, such as funds being remitted to the wrong account. With this feature, real-time data for account activity is also readily available, which can be incredibly useful for reconciliation and managing your company's cash flow.

Streamline fund management

Ultimately, the Multi-Currency Account streamlines the process of managing and receiving funds, enabling you to receive payments in up to 23 different currencies and make payments in up to 70 currencies from a single account. This simplifies international transactions and removes the need for multiple bank accounts or a local presence.

What are the key benefits?

01

Multi-currency collection account with up to 23 different currencies

02

Receive, send, and hold/convert money in multiple currencies on the same platform

03

Integrate your back office with Monex Pay using APIs for automated processing

04

Reduce the risks associated with foreign exchange

05

Monitor your account and access live account data

06

Monex Europa's systems are fully secure and regulated by the Bank of Spain, complying with the highest protection standards.

07

An IBAN is held in the company's name

08

System governance is transparent, giving authorised supervisors complete control of user access
